

ISolvers can be linked to other ISolvers to create an order in which to implement strategies. Guessing, being the brute force method, would be the last implemented chaining into NakedDouble, which would chain into NakedSingle. This allows for the seamless inclusion of future solving strategies